Simplicity Funerals Laurieton

Join us for "Dying to Know Day," a day dedicated to learning, sharing, and initiating important conversations. Together, let's create a more compassionate and understanding community where discussing death becomes a natural part of life.

Our compassionate team of funeral directors will be present throughout the event, offering their expertise and guidance to address any questions you may have. They are committed to providing the support you need as you navigate through end-of-life arrangements.

<https://www.simplicityfunerals.com.au/locations/nsw/laurieton/>

To foster understanding and encourage open dialogue, we are proud to showcase our hearse and coffin display. Additionally, a local celebrant will join us, graciously sharing insights and offering valuable advice on personalising funeral ceremonies. Their expertise ensures that your loved ones receive a meaningful and heartfelt tribute.

Understanding the importance of holistic well-being, we have also invited a grief yoga teacher to provide valuable techniques and insights on managing grief, nurturing healing, and promoting overall well-being. They will guide you through practices that support emotional and physical well-being during challenging times.

Recognising the significance of planning for the future, Simplicity Funerals has partnered with the reputable NSW Trustee and Guardian, renowned for their community services. Their experienced professionals will be available to offer guidance and support regarding estate planning, wills, and other legal considerations. They will ensure that you are well informed and equipped to make important decisions that safeguard your legacy.

During the event, we will also provide lunch to nourish both body and soul.

Date: Tuesday, 8 August

Time: 10:00 am – 1:00 pm

Location: Simplicity Funerals Laurieton
16 Lake Street, Laurieton, NSW

'Before I Die' Art Wall - Highton

Geelong Community 'Before I Die Wall' presented by Staff and Volunteers of Anam Cara House Geelong.

Before I Die wall is a global art project that invites people to reflect on death and share their personal aspirations in public. Originally created by Candy Chang in New Orleans after the death of a loved one, there are now over 5,000 walls around the world.

This year we are hosting the event in our local shopping strip, to encourage passers by to get the conversation started and think about their aspirations before they die.

This wall will be created by passionate people who work or Volunteer at Anam Cara House Geelong, who want to make a space in their community to restore perspective and reflect with one another.

This wall will be a tribute to living an examined life and will give the local community an inclusive space for personal expression, consolation, understanding, and kinship.

Date: Tuesday, 8 August

Time: 8:00 am

Location: Highton Shopping Centre, VIC

The Grief Cocoon Open Mic – Highton

Our annual open mic is back on Sunday the 13th of August 3.30pm to 5pm in support of Dying to Know Day.

It's an intimate open mic to share and listen to stories on grief, loss, death, and life. Bring a story, a song, a poem to share, or simply a listening ear. This is for you if you're grieving and would like to:

- make space and time to acknowledge your grief
- meet others who want to do the same
- have people hear your story, or that of a loved one support others by listening to their stories
- have a better understanding of grief and how it impacts people's lives

Afternoon tea will be provided and the room will be nice and cosy.
Please note: places are limited for the open mic.

Date: Sunday, 13 August

Time: 3:30 pm – 5:00 pm

Location: Kathleen Syme Library and Community Centre
251 Faraday St, Carlton, VIC
